

Better Jobs and Futures for Farmworkers

Helping Farmworker Families

MET staff are completely dedicated to your success. We understand that helping some individuals reach their goals requires a broad approach. MET can assist you and your family with many of your personal and job-related needs.

Dependents of qualified farmworkers are also eligible for MET's training program, as well as other services.

Some of the services that our clients and family members receive include:

- job training (on-the-job and classroom)
- career placement
- special skills training
- computer technology programs
- GED and ESL classes
- educational assistance
- housing and emergency lodging services
- supportive services
- counseling
- assistance with relocation for a new job

MET can help you and your family members prepare for promising careers outside of farm work.

MET's farmworker services are funded by the National Farmworker Jobs Program, U.S. Department of Labor.
